

From: Robin
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/17/01 1:26am
Subject: Microsoft Wrist slap

I am appalled at the microSOFT approach you are taking against this monopolistic predator. Since they have come out with XP, why not have them reveal their "old" OS source code? This would act as a major deterrent. Our only hope is that the states that have the best and most knowledgeable data processing background can get the judge to see what a microSOFT sell-out you guys have dealt the American consumer.